

Dinner held for delegates

The ninth annual Apex 40 national convention dinner was held at the Devonport Golf Club, Woodrising, on Saturday night.

About 100 guests attended the function, including the newly elected national president (Mr Ron Clarke) and Mrs Clarke, incoming national secretary treasurer Mr Kevin Harvey and Mrs Harvey, all of Bendigo, and Mr Garth Whitchurch, of Melbourne who was appointed extension director.

Also presented were Kentish Apex Club president Mr Peter Tyler and Mrs Tyler, Rob and Mary Beveridge, of Sassafras, outgoing national president Mr Jock Littler and Mrs Littler, of Devonport, and former secretary-treasurer Mr David Mansfield and Mrs Mansfield.

Back on deck

About 100 retired Apexians gathered at Devonport on Saturday for the annual convention of Apex 40.

Apex 40 consists of former Tasmanian and Victorian Apexians. About 38 Victorians made the trip for the convention.

Mr Ron Clarke and Mr Kevin Harvey, both of Bendigo, were elected president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

They replaced Mr Jock Littler and David Mansfield, of Devonport.

Mr Littler said it had been decided that names and addresses would be listed and circulated to encourage

DEVONPORT
17. 5. 84

Dear Jean,
Thought you would like to see publicity in the local press last Monday.
Hope you have recovered
from "fun galore in 84"
David.
